

Connected Presentations

A STATE OF THE ART FACILITY IN COMMUNICATION

Connected presentations allow you to communicate with your audience like never before. A connected presentation will automatically sense an active Internet connection or ask the user to open one. Once connected you will have a secure open channel through which you can transmit updated information and media directly to the user from your website.

Connect the user directly to your online support or sales systems through a rich, easy to use interface that guides them seamlessly to the desired service or solution.

Gather invaluable marketing data directly from your presentation giving you a real insight into the needs and practices of your customer base.

Connected technology will breath new life into your presentations with their ability to stay current and even personalise information based upon the users desired profile.

Open a direct multimedia channel between you and your client now with a custom developed, cutting edge connected presentation, and reach out to your customer base faster and cheaper than ever before.
